

Beautiful Sentences – Beautiful Lives

26.5.1993

Write complete sentences. Let your sentences be meaningful and beautiful. Avoid long sentences. Short sentences full of meanings are better than long sentences with less of meaning.

Let your sentences be excellent in both letter and spirit. Let your sentences be poetic and work of art.

Let your sentences communicate love and good will. Let your sentence be worthy to be quoted by others.

Let the words in sentence be organised in such a way that there will be harmony between the words. Let there be a symphony of words in your sentence.

Let your sentences be both active and passive, appropriately. Avoid too many adjectives and accessories.

Let your sentences be pure and truthful. Let them ring like a sound of God full of divinity, which comes out when they are soothing, comforting, pleasant and helpful to others.

Live complete life. Let your life be meaningful and beautiful. Avoid too much prolonged life through medicines and artificial means. Short lives full of meaning are better than long lives with less of meaning. Let your life be excellent both in quantity and quality . Let your life be poetic and an example of creative excellence.

Let your life transmit love and good will. Let your life be worthy to be quoted by others. Let the stages in life be organised in such a way that there is harmony between the stages. Let there be a symphony of useful actions in your life.

Let your life be both active and passive, appropriately. Avoid too many labels and accessories. Let your life be pure and truthful. Let your life shine like the spirit of God full of divinity, which comes out when your life is contributing, soothing, comforting, pleasant and helpful to others.

What you write you live.

What you live you write.

SPIRIT SATYAM LETTER MITHYA
MEANING SPIRITAIVA NAA PARAH.

SPIRIT IS REAL, NOT LETTER TOO.
MEANING IS SPIRIT, NONE OTHER, TRUE.

THIS IS THAT
THIS (LETTER) IS THAT (SPIRIT)