

43
Behind the Lines
14.09.1993

Write and read behind the lines. Every line is collection of words and letters.

See the letters, their linkages, the arrangement of words and the flow of language and the flow of meaning.

The letter and words are physical appearance of the lines. Write beautifully, clearly. Let each letter have its place, connection and its individuality. Let each letter be wonderful like a pearl and flower. Let each word be like a beautiful arrangement of collection of pearls and flowers. Let all the words put together be a magnificent flower show.

See beyond the letter and words. See the feelings each word and the sentence generate in you or convey to others. See the hidden signals inside the words, which will trigger emotions. Let your words convey the noble and harmonious feelings.

See for the effect of the words and sentence on thought currents. See the significance of the thoughts and ideas. Let your words and sentences communicate noble thoughts and ideas. See the inner meaning, the spirit of words and sentences. See the different meanings the sentence communicates. The apparent meaning, the subtle meaning, the essence of meaning and the reality. Experience the total impact of your writing and sentences.

A sentence is a field. Once it is written its waves will vibrate eternally. Let the meaning and the spirit of sentence become an integral strand in the network of ocean of meaningful currents. Observe and read behind the lines. Every life is the collection of stages and steps.

See the steps a person takes, their linkages, the arrangement of stages and the flow of life and the flow of spirit in life.

The steps and stages and actions are physical appearances of lives. Live beautifully and clearly. Let each step have its place, connection and individuality. Let each step be wonderful like a useful flower or pearl. Let each stage be like a collection of useful offerings. Let all the stages of life put together be a magnificent glow of offerings.

See beyond the steps and stages. See the feelings each step and stage generates in you or conveys to others. See hidden signals inside the stages which trigger emotions. Let your steps and stages in life be noble and harmonious sources for good feelings. See the effect of stages in life and life itself on thought currents. See significance of thoughts and ideas of your life. Let your steps and stages communicate noble thoughts and ideas. Be the inner meaning, the spirit of steps and stages and life itself. See the different life communicates. The apparent meaning, the subtle meaning, the essence of meaning and the reality experience the total impact of your living and life.

A life is a field. Once it is lived its waves will vibrate eternally.

Let the meaning and the spirit of your life become an integral part of the network of oceans of meaningful currents of consciousness.