

When one line stops, there is a full stop. That is there is a pause. Stop for a second and contemplate about the next sentence. What can be the best in next sentence ? How the next sentence can be better than the sentence just completed. Consider the previous sentence as a preparation for next sentence.

That way build better and better sentences. The spirit of the previous sentence is the inspiring energy for the next sentence.

Then, why to wait for the full stop and end of sentence ? Why not think how next sentence can be better and better by improving the present sentence.

While writing this sentence consider this as source and resource for the next sentence. Then the succeeding sentence can be, of course resourceful and a source of joy. Let your sentences be series of wonderful experiences.

Think about this sentence and next several sentences while writing this sentence itself. Then your sentences will be full of wit, wealth, wisdom and welfare. Then your writing is worthwhile.

BETWEEN LIVES

When one life stops, there is a gap. That is, there is a pause. Stop for a while and contemplate about the next life. What can be the best for next life ? How the next life can be better than the life just completed. Consider the previous life as a preparation for next life.

That way build better and better lives. The spirit of previous life is the inspiring energy for the next life.

Then why to wait for the death and end of life ? Why not think how next life can be better and better by improving the present life ?

While living this life, consider this as a source and resource for the next life. Then the succeeding life can be, of course, resourceful and a source of joy.

Let your lives be a series of wonderful experiences.

Think about this life and next several lives while living this life itself. Think about how you are going to bring to conclusion all the lives you have to live. Think the final stop the final freedom, which is the climax. Then your lives will be full of wit, wealth, wisdom and welfare. Then your living is worthwhile.
